

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Acquiring job skills!

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What kind of job skills do you think young people need?
- What are some skills you would like to improve on or acquire?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about events and experiences related to a job.
- I can discuss future plans.
- I can report what someone had previously said.

Let's Explore!

I was laid-off from my job last year at Christmas time.

* To be "laid-off" means to lose your job.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

It has been a while now since I was laid-off at Polygon. I have had a few interviews, but so far, no takers, but I think next week I will be exploring a few new leads. The seminar on job skills building this weekend was very useful. In the workshop, our teacher bestowed on us some valuable insights and tips. For example, he told us to make our cover letters brief. He also gave us advice on building the résumé. He told us to change our résumé outline based on the job we were searching for. He said it was important to our job search to tailor our résumé to the company's particular needs.

He also explained how important it was that a good résumé is standard, and nothing special.

"Many of you are going to be missing out on great job opportunities because your résumé is too flamboyant," he said.

He explained that a good or great résumé doesn't make the person. You and your interview make the person.

Finally, our teacher inquired as to who had an online presence? Silence.

He asked us who had a profile online that prospective bosses could explore at a click of a button?

He went onto explain that in the near future, résumés will have become obsolete.

Everything will be done through social media and that nothing is going to be paper based.

"Build your brand online," he said. "You will be needing it in the years ahead."

I will be taking his advice to heart and by Friday this week, I will have customized my résumés and I will have built my own online portfolio.

I feel energized now.

Let's Practice!

Being laid off ...

Instructions: Choose the words from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences. There are extra options you do not need to use.

Work Bank

- leads
- laid-off
- paper-based
- retired
- bestowed
- tailor
- online-based

1. It has been a while now since I was _____ at Polygon.
2. Next week I will be exploring a few new _____.
3. He said, "It is important to your job search to _____ your resume to the company's particular needs."
4. In the workshop, our teacher _____ on us some valuable insights and tips.
5. Everything will be done through social media and nothing is going to be _____.

Let's Practice!

That's some golden advice!

Instructions: Draw a line to match the sentences in Column A and Column B. When you complete the sentences, read the sentences aloud with your partner. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

COLUMN A

1. He told us to make our
2. He told us to change our resume outline
3. He also explained how important it is that
4. He asked us who had a profile online
5. He said that was important to your job search

COLUMN B

- a. to tailor your resume to the company's particular needs.
- b. a good resume is standard, and nothing special.
- c. based on the job we were searching for.
- d. cover letters brief.
- e. that prospective bosses could explore at a click of a button.

Extension Activity

Teaching job skills!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- With a partner, brainstorm all the job skills that you feel young people need in order to succeed.
- Pick a skill you know well, or would like to learn.
- With a partner make a 3-5 minute presentation explaining the skill to the class.
- Use the four future tenses to help explain your particular skill and why it is important for their future.
- The class votes on which skills were the most useful.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I list important job skills.

☐ ☐

I make a 3-5 minute presentation.

☐ ☐

I explain my particular skill and how it is relevant in the future.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- laid-off (adjective): having no work because of downsizing
e.g. It has been a while now since I was laid-off at Polygon.
- no takers (expression): no one is interested
e.g. I have had a few interviews, but so far, no takers.
- leads (noun): opportunities to pursue e.g. I think next week I will be exploring a few new leads.
- to bestow (verb): to present
e.g. Our teacher bestowed on us some valuable insights and tips.
- to tailor (verb): to shape to fit
e.g. It's important to your job search to tailor your résumé to the company's particular needs.
- flamboyant (adjective): excessively stylized
e.g. Your résumé is too flamboyant!
- paper based (expression): using paper to print information
e.g. Nothing is going to be paper based in the future.
- take to heart (expression): consider carefully
e.g. I will be taking his advice to heart.

Learning Points

Reported Speech and Questions

You use reported speech when you are saying (reporting) the exact words someone else says.

Direct speech	Reported speech
"I like working."	He said he liked working.
"I'm preparing for an interview"	He said he was preparing for an interview.
"I already ate ."	He said he had already eaten.
"I can use a Mac."	He told me he could use a Mac.
"Where do you work ?"	He asked me where I worked .

You have to also change the pronoun if you are reporting what someone else said. Compare these two sentences. In each case the person actually said "I don't want to go."

I said, "I don't want to go."	I said I didn't want to go.
Bill said, "I don't want to go."	Bill said he didn't want to go.

Learning Points

Look at the chart below to see the changes in verb tense.

Direct Speech	Example	Indirect Speech	Direct
Simple Present	Sara: "I am hot."	Simple Past	Sara said she was hot.
Present Progressive	Tom: "I'm coming now."	Past Progressive	Tom said he was coming now.
Simple Past	Brad: "It was great!"	Past Perfect	Brad said it had been great.
Present Perfect	Joe: "I've never been to the United States."	Past Perfect	Joe said he had never been to the United States.
Past Progressive	Maria: "I was just doing the laundry."	Past Perfect Progressive	Maria said she had just been doing the laundry.
Future Simple (will)	Larissa: "I'll let you know later."	Conditional (would)	Larissa said she would let me know later.
Modal Can	Ned: "We can all go together."	Modal Could	Ned said we could all go together.
Modal May	Mike: "I may know him."	Modal Might	Mike said he might know him.

Examples:

- He explained that a good or great résumé doesn't make the person. You and your interview make the person.
- He asked us who had a profile online that prospective bosses could explore at a click of a button.
- He told us to make our cover letters brief.
- He said it was important to your job search to tailor your résumé to the company's particular needs.

Learning Points

The Future Continuous and Future Perfect Tenses vs. Regular Future Tenses

You use the Future Continuous tense to talk about something that will be in progress at a certain point in the future.

Future Continuous is also used to talk about what we assume is happening at a certain period of time.

For example:

Don't call my dad. He will be reading.

The structure of the Future Continuous is:

Subject + will + be + verb-ing

You use the Future Perfect tense to talk about an action in the future that occurred before another action in the future.

Future Continuous is also used to talk about what we assume is happening at a certain period of time.

The Future Perfect tense describes what will have happened in the future before a different action takes place, or by a specific time.

For example:

By Friday this week, I will have customized my résumés and I will have built my own online portfolio.

In the near future, résumés will have become obsolete.

The structure of the Future Perfect is:

Subject + will + have + present participle

Learning Points

Look at the chart for a comparison of the other tenses used to talk about the future.

Name	Use	Example
The Modal Will	talk about things that are not decided make a quick decision at the moment of speaking making predictions	You will find a job soon. Do you think they will hire anyone else?
Be going to	talk about intentions	I'm going to study music as soon as I finish school.
Present Continuous	talk about things that are arranged, on the agenda or booked for the future	I'm seeing my boss tonight. Actually, we are both applying at the same company.
Simple Present	talk about schedules	The office opens every day at 8:00 a.m.

Examples:

- Many of you are going to be missing out on great job opportunities.
- In the near future, résumés will have become obsolete.
- I will be taking his advice to heart.
- By Friday this week, I will have customized my résumés and I will have built my own online portfolio.
- You will be needing it in the years ahead.

